Building management has become a science with the sheer volume of maintenance tasks being handled by Facilities Managers. With the introduction of WHS Harmonisation, OH&S Act, new taxes, increased corporate governance, shifts in liability and accountability and while trying to run the daily operations across single sites or a national portfolio is a significant stretch for any manager.

One Connect Corporate can assist as we have access to in-house trades and services and a comprehensive external network of partners all managed through the

One Connect Software. Compliance, insurance, efficiency, communication and reliability are but a few of the key benefits of engaging One Connect. Returning time and operational efficiency to you as we coordinate, deliver, supervise while keeping you fully informed with real time updates via the communication tools of our Software. One Call, One Provider, One Invoice, One Solution, One Connect, removing the need for you to meet with multiple contractors, manage numerous jobs and projects concurrently and find time to ensure that the back of house and administrative work is also completed before the days end.

Our team are highly motivated and experienced in the property industry and understand the importance of time, return on investment and price competitiveness. Our customised software was specifically designed to complement the delivery of trades and services, particularly in those key areas identified in property operations by industry professionals as having impacted on owner and management objectives. We welcome and embrace the challenge of our performance and service delivery measured against customer KPI's and expectations, which is a measurement critical to our business.

The One Connect team coordinate and manage the service delivery of integrated services to properties and assets incorporating customer, contractor and technology to deliver a quality efficient cost effective benchmarked service. We can provide programmed, scheduled and reactive maintenance across a diverse range of services and trades including specialist consultants.
